

Curbed LA Eater LA Racked LA More cities...

Advertise Submit a tip

Leaning Tower of Peas: Canstruction LA Going Up On Wilshire

Thursday, November 5, 2009, by Marissa Gluck

All Photos Courtesy of Franklin Ave franklinavenue.blogspot.com

Our friends over at Franklin Avenue report on the latest entries in this year's

"Canstruction LA" taking place right now in the lobby of the Variety building on Wilshire. The two-week event is a competition among local design and architecture firms, all of whom use cans of food to create sculptures. When the exhibit wraps up on November 15th, the cans will be donated to the LA Regional Foodbank. The exhibit is organized by Society for Design Administration and supported by the American Institute of Architects/Los Angeles and while it's free to the public from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., a canned food donation is strongly encouraged. Our favorite so far is the leaning tower of Pisa.

· Canstruction Returns to Los Angeles [Franklin Avenue]

Filed under Los Angeles, Aia/La (9 posts), Architecture (330), Cans (1), Canstruction (2), Design (28), Donation (1), Foodbank (1), Variety (4)

Related posts...

Share this with:

Or email a link:

Comments (3 extant)

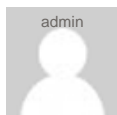

SecretAgent

They should'a used pizza.

Comment #1, 11/05/09 11:12 AM.

SecretAgent: 594 comments.

Marissa at Curbed

"Oh, this is the best pizza in a cup ever. This guy is unbelievable. He ran the old Cup 'o Pizza guy out of business. People come from all over to eat this. "

Comment #2, 11/05/09 11:26 AM.

Marissa at Curbed: 114 comments.

Haggis

They should move the giant fork over here from Pasadena.

Comment #3, 11/05/09 12:29 PM.

Haggis: 16 comments.

Already a commenter?

Email address

Password

Forgot your password?

Not yet?

Pick an option:

Comments feed for this post

